Upon the President's order all distilleries shut down Saturday night indefinitely. May they never re-open.

Congress is still fighting over the details of the revenue bill. The measure is in the hands of the conference committee to adjust the differences between the two branches and it is hoped the bill will become a law within a week or ten days. La Follett and two or three other disloyal Senators have blocked legislation all the way.

Russia is a busy country. In war with Germany, with no stable government yet established, the complication was increased this week by the commander-in-chief of the army starting a revolution and trying to assume the leadership of the government. Kerensky, the great young statesman whose frail body indicates an early death, is putting up a wonderful fight to establish a democratic government and prevent the return of autocracy to power.

OBITUARY.

Corra Chadwick was born November 19, 1889, and departed this life September 5, 1917, aged 26 years nine months and seventeen days. She was married to Thomas H. Chadwick April 5, 1893, and to this union seven children were born, 3 boys and 4 girls, the baby being 17 months old.

Corra joined the church and was converted in 1908 and lived a very conscientious christian. She was loved by her good friends and neighbors. Her husband and children were kind and attentive to her, doing all they could for her. She bore her long illness with christian fortitude.

Everything was done for her that could be done by kind hands and tender hearts of friends and neighbors and loved one but they could not stay the cruel hand of death. The morning of her departure her kind friend, Mr. Nancy Harman, was sitting by her bedside. She put her arm around her neck and said "the Lord will reward you for your kindness to me" and began to talk to the Lord and told Mrs. Harman she was putting all her trust in the Lord. Her children were called around her bed. Bidding them and her husband good bye she fell asleep safe in the loving embrace of our dear Christ, there to sleep until the trumpet of God sound the retreat of worlds, then the pathetic dust of her mortal body will be reconstructed into organic unity and come forth an immortal body to meet God in the air. Weep not, dear friends and loved ones, as those without hope just prepare to go to heaven and there you will meet her with other redeemed loved ones where God and Angels dwell, nevermore to say farewell. God bless the bereaved husband and children brother and sister, father, friends and neighbors.

ADAM HARMAN.

Card Of Thanks.

Through a column of your paper we wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness to us during the illness and death of a dear wife and mother.

Trace Road Map of Country by Walking at Night to Escape Foe—Finally Reach Holland and Freedom.

made haste to say good night to him, and he went on his way. We arrived at the city. Sad to say, it was not Limburg, and we could not make out the name of the place. We continued our march toward the northwest and finally found our correct road at Schulbertz. A very dark night, with a little rain. We stopped at 5 a. m. and lay down on the edge of a wood. A very critical morning. A peasant came and cut wood at three yards from us. I will never understand how it happened that he did not see us. We changed our hiding place as soon as the peasant left and were more tranquil until the evening. A rainy, snowy day."

Had Narrow Escape.

Reservat told me that a small boy was with the peasant who cut the wood and that once the peasant looked directly at the place where the two Frenchmen were hidden, saying something in German. Then he picked up his bundle of wood and with the child went away. The diary continues:

"March 21.—Departed at 9 a. m. along the same road. Upon arriving at the first village we noticed that again we were wandering. We looked at our map, but unfortunately it was not very detailed, for this region was entirely left out of our itinerary, which had been made to leave from Giessen. We tried vainly to find the right road. Useless effort. So again we set off toward the unknown, trusting in our good star.

"We passed through several villages and arrived, without knowing it, at the gates of Limburg. Crossed part of the city without incident apart from meeting several workmen and found our selves on the correct route, in the direction of Bonn.

"March 22.—Departure at 5:30 p. m. Fine weather. Marched without incident until morning. We have stopped in a wood of small places, for it is the best of hiding places, especially as since we left the prison camp we have not been discovered. It is very cold, and it was not yet daylight when we stopped. We tried to warm ourselves by running up and down the road. We were almost caught by a civilian, whom we did not hear coming. It took only one jump for us to penetrate into our wood, and we are resting tranquilly in our hiding place."

Reach Heights of Rhine.

"March 23.—Departure at 8:15 p. m. Good march. Lost our way about 2 a. m., but found it again on the banks of the Rhine. Following the Rhine, we arrived at Beul. We decided to hide on the heights that overlook the Rhine. Were disillusioned by the woods we found there. Finally we discovered an abandoned stone quarry, where we found a little hut. We entered, barricaded the doors and have passed a most exciting day. Are worried because of the children who have been playing around all day, and who seem to find it very strange that the hut is closed up.

"Before dark we came out of our hiding place and watched the sun set from the banks of the Rhine, just like tourists.

"March 25.—We took our departure in very bad weather, snow and an icy rain. We are wet to the skin and have difficulty in walking. We got lost about 3 a. m., but managed finally to stop near the point we had decided upon in advance. We are sheltered in a large wood of pines, but have been on the watch all day, because we are near a large city. Are still wet to the skin, for it is impossible to dry ourselves. A very hard and very cold day.

"March 27.—En route at 8 p. m. We pass the city of Dunn. After a little trouble we find our correct road. We follow it half the night, but, not to change our custom, we got lost.

Comrade Wants to Give Up.

"My comrade is again about to give up in despair, being completely demoralized and fatigued and having a blistered foot.

"March 28.—We set out at 8 p. m. We find our route, not without trouble, and take the direction of the frontier. We stop at 2 p. m. and rest, hidden, until 11 p. m. the following night.

"March 29.—Departure at 11:30 p. m. Bad weather, rain and wind. We are happy to be able to drink rain water. We take the right road and arrive near our goal. About 2 a. m. the sky became light. We find the polar star, which leads us to freedom. Cutting across the fields we march for about eight kilometers, and when the sun rises we find ourselves in Holland, free and saved! We are tired out and dirty from head to foot."

The two soldiers were well received at the frontier village and rested three days with a family of Belgian refugees. Then they went to Rotterdam, where they rested for a month. Crossing to England, they finally reached France on June 6. Both men were still very tired and were granted a long period of repose by the French war department.

Peruna eases the burden of the housekeeper by keeping away the danger of illness resulting from colds, coughs, and indigestion due to catarrhal condition. It speeds relief and overcomes these.

Its tonic properties build up the strength of the physically weak and run down, and its use in convalescence, especially after grip, is remarkably beneficial.

KEEP IT ON HAND
The wise housekeeper has Peruna on hand for instant use even if catarrhal troubles do not call for its regular administration. A dose or two in time often prevents a long illness.

Liquid or tablet form.
